Family Learning

Have you heard about Family Learning?

What do other schools say about Family Learning?

"It has become part of the DNA of the school. We deliver sustainability courses in the child's reception year and therefore, due to effective recruitment, are able to recruit and engage parents more readily into the Family English programme when their child enters Year 1.

The Family English course enables us to send key messages regarding specific skills e.g. phonics which facilitates effective learning opportunities at home."

Over the half term we had a great time with families across the county on our Family Learning Online Workshops .

We've listened to your feedback about how we can continue to support you and your parents most effectively during term time and are now offering workshops in the evening and at weekends too.

Wellbeing Wednesday

We all know how difficult this lockdown has been on families. Our Family Learning Wellbeing Wednesday hour will support parents as they learn some practical tips and activities to help promote well-being, and calmness for the whole family.

Feeding Families on a Budget

Food shopping is one of the biggest costs we have to budget for. In this hour-long workshop we share tips about saving money and simple ideas of how to keep families healthy.

Books aren't boring!

Here we show parents how to bring books to life by creating cartoons, plays, or mini films of your families' favourite books. We'll share some ideas how to help their child get more from the stories they know so well and maybe learn some new skills too!

Family Fun Outdoors

We show parents how to change that everyday trip to the shops or when taking the dog for a walk into learning opportunities in our Family Fun Outdoors workshop. We share ideas of how to make every day a school day with easy activities they can do together while they're out and about

Our tutors are supporting parents from all over Lincolnshire with our hour long online workshops.

As we move into the next phase of returning to something closer to normal over the next few months we know how important it will be to support your families and are planning courses and workshops with our partner schools ready for the summer term.

Whether it's to re-establish positive relationships or to help parents understand more about how they can support their child with learning at home we can offer workshops or courses exclusive to parents, carers and grandparents at your school.

2 hours of fun-filled activities for your families.

Our team of qualified tutors deliver a range of courses in schools. The programmes are flexible, friendly and fun. Whether you want to develop parental engagement or meet Ofsted criteria, we can support you and your parents. We will work with you to plan a family learning course that suits your school's needs.

For the first hour our tutor works with the parents to teach activities that support learning, while the link teacher from the school works with their children. During the second hour of joint learning the link tutor leads the interactive teaching with parents and their children, supported by the tutor.
